ARTWORKS ON COMMISSION (prices valid from May to September 2025)

HOW TO COMMISSION AN ARTWORK

An original work of art is something precious: it's a unique piece of craftsmanship, realized with first quality art supplies, and it is also a representation of an idea, a message you want to share with the world or with someone you love. The artist is asked to transform your feelings into a painting, and as you can imagine, it's not an easy task; nevertheless, there are some tips to follow to make this process as smooth as possible:

- Talk to me! Every detail counts, even the smallest one. If you love (or hate) a colour, if you love a flower, an animal, a symbol of any kind, please let me know. If you want your painting to be "alive", tell me the whole story you want to share. Every side of your idea matters;
- If you are commissioning a portrait, please send me some good resolution pictures, so that I can zoom into the details. For the same reason, avoid pictures where features are covered by hats, sunglasses etcetera. If you need me to paint a head-shot portrait, please don't send me a full-body picture. As a general rule, please send me more than one picture, so that I can suggest you which is the best one to be used as a reference.

WHEN YOU WILL RECEIVE YOUR PAINTING

Once we have defined the details of your work, I will take some days to send you a pencil sketch so that we can make all the necessary adjustments or changes.

As soon as the sketch is approved, I will begin to work on the painting. You will receive periodically some work-in-progress pictures and updates. Please consider a release time of 20-30 working days for painting within 40x60 cm and 40-60 working days for bigger paintings. Time may vary according to how much detailed is the artwork or according to the selected technique (watercolour and acrylic paintings are usually faster than oils).

SHIPPING TIME

Shipping is settled as soon as the artwork is dried and ready to be packed (please consider at least 7-10 days more for oils, since they need more time to cure).

EU customers will receive their artworks within 3-5 working days once they're shipped from my studio.

Customers outside the EU will receive their artworks within 10-15 working days, due to the customs procedures. Please consider that some additional fees may be applied according to your Country taxes regulations.
